ANDREW SATTERLEY

ADR in Richmond: The Work of the Street Pastors

In recent years, in the UK and now Australia, Street Pastors, trained in conflict resolution and handling high conflict people, have been working in city hot spots aiming to reduce conflict, violence and other potentially dangerous situations for people out late at night. Comprising members of a number of churches, the Street Pastors liaise with police, council and ambulance services, and there is good evidence the streets in these often difficult areas are now much more peaceful. Andrew Satterley will speak about the work currently being carried out by his group, which operates in Richmond.

Andrew Satterley has been a Senior Nurse in Critical Care for the past 28 years working across many specialties. At present he is a Clinical Nurse Specialist in the Austin Hospital and project managing the use of Patient Diaries to reduce the psychological effects of ICU admission and decreasing the incidence of post-traumatic stress disorder. For the past eight years he has been in a leadership role in the Street Pastor initiative, commencing in the UK, then Melbourne, where he has taken on the role of Coordinator of Yarra Street Pastors. The group works closely with Victoria Police and Yarra City Council to help create a safer environment for our night time economy.
